

A person in a dark suit and tie is shown from the chest up, interacting with a futuristic, glowing blue digital interface. The interface is centered around a circular hub with the text "DATA ANALYSIS" in white capital letters. Surrounding this hub are various data-related icons: a bar chart, a line graph, a globe, a pie chart, and several interlocking gears. The person's right hand is reaching out, with their index finger touching one of the gears. The background is dark, making the glowing interface elements stand out.
